Dear Marcia:

My name is spelled Paul Bommer and my department is Petroleum and Geosystems Engineering at The University of Texas at Austin. Please correct the reports.

As a side issue that you brought up yesterday, I am gathering data on the rupture discs and the escape points if the discs were to rupture. The point of this is to see if a fracture back to the surface is possible should the well burst the discs. I will send you a personal report on this when I am finished.

In the mean time I will send my detailed report on fluids and flow Bill today.

Regards,

Paul Bommer
