We don't, Marcia. We'll handle from here. This is all an effort to take some of the burdens off of you. Don't worry about it.

How badly do you all need me for this meeting? The diamond saw blade is hung up and I am working with Steve Chu and the engineers to find a work around. Maybe a water jet or maybe some othwr kind of saw. Looking at options from undersea experience. I am just concerned that between the latest setback and needing to put together a presentation and drive 4.5 hours to the meeting tonight, I am hard to catch.

Anne,

That works for me, but Marcia is at another meeting at the moment... so I can't speak for her schedule this morning.

Let's make it 10:30 EDT if that works.

We are almost finished with hot topics and I want to catch Rachel. How about 10.15 eastern?
