Marcia,

We can probably pull it off on Sunday, but Bill thinks that it might be more convenient to most people if we do it in WA. He is looking into it right now and he will make a decision shortly. Either way, we will be executing travel orders first thing in the morning.

We will keep you posted.

Pedro,

I want to allow the different labs to do their cross-comparison calculations. You cannot do PIV waiting at the airport for your flight. Also, most of the PIV performers are out on the West Coast. I can arrange a spot for them here in Seattle, say Sunday. I can put a rush on invitational travel for the professors. Besides, I can bribe people with lakeview property here at Sand Point.

Given the importance of this issue, NIST would like to invite the team to meet at our campus in Gaithersburg, MD. Funding has been made available for this gathering, and with your permission, we would like to extend an invitation to the team.
